

1 DELEGATE GRANT: The trial in the district
2 court will be a final trial, and you will not have a de novo
3 trial in the superior court.

4 DELEGATE MUDD: That is what we would contem-
5 plate, but it would depend upon the action of the legis-
6 lature.

7 THE CHAIRMAN: Delegate Grant.

8 DELEGATE GRANT: The next question would be,
9 assuming that you did have a final trial in the district
10 court, where would the appellate jurisdiction then lie?
11 Would it go up to the intermediate appeal, or would
12 you have appellate jurisdiction in superior court over
13 district court proceedings?

14 DELEGATE MUDD: It would depend upon the wisdom
15 of the legislature in describing jurisdiction. It could 16 provide for appellate jurisdiction either way.

17 DELEGATE GRANT: No appellate jurisdiction in 18 superior court? I wondered if you contemplated it would 19 go all the way to the intermediate appellate court.

20 DELEGATE MUDD: That would appear to be inevi-
21 table, the inevitable result.
